

Featherbloom will show in the class for heavy hunters and in the closing event of the evening will pair with Dick Donnelly's Rifle. The appearance together of these two famous jumpers will be a feature of the first day.

The Artillery Band of Fortress Monroe will be on hand to furnish the music. Popular programmes have been arranged, and the nightly concerts will be one of the enjoyable features of the exhibition. A number of the judges are already in the city, and the others will arrive early to-day. Some of the best known horsemen in the United States are on the list, which follows:

Roadsters—Mr. R. A. Fairbairn, of Westfield, N. J.

Horses and Ponies in Harness—Mr. R. F. Carman, of Huntington, L. I.; Mr. James G. Marshall, of New York, and Mr. R. A. Fairbairn, of Westfield, N. J.

Saddle Horses and Ponies Under Saddle—Dr. C. Shirley Carter, of Warrenton, Va.

Hunters and Jumpers—Mr. Adam Beck, of London, Ontario; Mr. S. Tabor Willets, of Roslyn, L. I.; and Mr. Charles H. Hurkamp, of Fredericksburg, Va.

Prospects Very Bright.

Performances will be given every night, ending with Saturday. The morning preliminary trials have been called off. Only one matinee will be held—on Friday. The Saturday matinee was postponed to give the crowds an opportunity to attend the big foot-ball game.

The prospects for the success of the show are excellent. The number of horses entered, as already said, is the largest ever known at any show in the South. There are 150 on the lists, as follows: Roadsters, 14; harness horses, 48; park hacks, 30; ponies in harness, 7; ponies under saddle, 12, and hunters, 48.

The city hotels are already well filled, the number of out-of-town patrons of the show being very large. The sale of tickets here has been steady, and there is every reason to believe that the attendance on the opening night will be brilliant.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY PRIZE WINNERS HERE

Complete List of Horses That Will Be Exhibited—Ladies Who Will Ride.

The horse show building was like a bee hive all day long yesterday, for horses were coming in from distant points, others were being exercised or cleaned, a small army of stable boys washed vehicles of all sorts and descriptions, and amidst it all walked the interested crowd of open-eyed spectators who kept up a steady tramp throughout the day until the building was closed long after dark.

The photograph flend was in evidence and if any well-known prize winner was led from his box, it was a case of "your photograph or your life" in a minute.

"Heatherbloom, the world's champion high jumper, came in for a large share of attention, and for the greater part of the day the door of his box was crowded with those who worshipped at his shrine.

The ring was not open during the morning, but on the road around the lake and on the race track beyond, the crowd was seen a number of show horses being exercised. "Lord Baltimore" in particular was noticed, and one well known Virginia gentleman who has a horror of doctored (tallied) horses, was heard to say, "That is the only well-tallied horse I ever saw that I would like to own."

An Invincible Four.

In the afternoon Charles Fowner, the well-known professional whip-dresser, Mr. Watson's four in the ring. To a green and white coach were harnessed "Virginia," "West Virginia," "My Maryland," and "Lord Baltimore," a four that will take a lot of beating. Fowner, on the box, full sustained his reputation as a finished whip. During the afternoon the Carlisle horse and the stable of Mrs. Van Housen came in to join the strings of Mr. Willets, Miss Vera Morris, Mr. Alfred McClay, Dick Donnelly, and Westchester Farm, Mr. Charles Pitzer that had come in during the morning.

The Horse Show management desire to again announce that there will be no preliminaries held in the mornings.

Conformation will be judged, but there will be no jumping.

The management has set aside boxes Nos. 39 and 40 for the use of the judges, and boxes Nos. 101 and 102 for the use of the press.

The string of the Westchester Farm, which is partly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich, of "Westbrook," is made up of the following well known winners—Hunters, Jack Frost, Red Raven, Buck, Mary Belle, Red Raven and Centennial, Cygnets, and "Fluette," a park hack.

The following list shows that exclusive of Mrs. Grosvenor's twenty-eight horses, one hundred and fifty horses are entered at the show, nearly every one of which

A Little Stealth.

Some of the most lovable and best people in the world are cranky, and a "crotchety" hard to manage, particularly when you want to do them good. Then it is that justifiable and righteous artfulness may be resorted to. As, for instance, in the following case which is a true story, taken from a letter written by a teacher, because convinced that coffee was doing her harm, as it caused distress and belching after eating. She felt that she needed a warm drink in the morning but disliked hot water or milk. Then gradually she used Grape-Nuts suggested Postum.

"For some time my husband, who has been a user of coffee from his youth, had been more than usually troubled with sleeplessness and nervousness and I felt that Postum might be helpful to him. The question was, how to persuade him to leave off drinking coffee, for I was a teetotaler, and I had recently expressed prejudice. I resolved to try an experiment and make the test.

"Without acquainting them with the fact, I made Postum according to directions, but added a teaspoonful of good, genuine, I poured it into a cup, and misgivings, but was delighted to see that a little could tell from its appearance that it was not rich, strong coffee. Its use was continued for a week with the coffee addition, then that was gradually withdrawn, until only the pure Postum remained, and still the change had not been detected.

"Two things were very noticeable, however, that my daughter had begun to rapidly improve in health, her dyspepsia left, and my husband was enjoying sweet, refreshing sleep.

"When I ventured to tell them what I had done, he asked for a return to the coffee, and I gladly made it for him; but one day satisfied him, the old sleeplessness came back and he told me he liked the Postum better. So we have used it ever since to the benefit of the whole family." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

HORSE SHOW PRIMER; CLASSES AND TERMS

Explanations That Will Be Useful to Many Attending Exhibitions; Rules That Guide Judges in Making Decisions—Classes and Horses Are Clearly Differentiated, But Audiences Often Miss From Lack of Proper Understanding.

Roadster.

A roadster is a horse used on the road for fast work. He is or should be a standard bred trotter, with a long tail, ranky; not less than fifteen hands high, and with a fair amount of speed. His conformation should be good and he should be without unsoundness or blemish. His way of going should be straight and true. A roadster should be shown in a four-wheeled wagon or buggy, and light trotting harness should be used. A roadster can never win in a harness class.

Harness Horses.

A harness horse is just the reverse of a roadster. He should be short coupled and compact, long neck, small nuzzle, short back, square quarters, short legs and tall bone. He should be doctored and his tail well "set up."

His way of going should be even and true, and while extreme action is not considered essential, he should go high all around. A harness horse should not be allowed to win in a roadster class.

Appointments.

By appointments is meant the "style" in which a vehicle is turned out, be it runabout, roadwagon, tandem, victoria, gig, coach, or phaeton. Of course, the harness counts, as does the whip, robes, blankets and the dozens of articles, such as buckets, the reins, wrenches, hoofticks, etc., that are used in a runabout or road wagon.

In turning out a coach, appointments play a serious part, and this is also true of a George IV. phaeton and victoria, when the fit of the servant's livery often determines the award. Frequently when audience misses the decision of judges, it is because it has not seen that the appointments of its favorite are all wrong, and does not know that the judges honestly give the ribbons to a horse that is shown before an improperly appointed vehicle.

Remember that the judges can see faults that you cannot possibly see, and that they are selected as judges because they are honest and know what they are required to do.

Unsoundness.

If a horse is unsound—that is, if he is spavined; if he is curbed; if he has ring bone; if he is over in his knees; if he is "knuckled;" if he has bad feet; if he has a bad wind; if he has bad asthma; if, in a word, he has any of these unsoundnesses or would not be given a certificate by a veterinarian—then he cannot win an award. No matter how good looking he is; no matter how well he goes; no matter how much he gives you a blue ribbon. The judges can discover the defects because they are in the ring, while a person outside would probably not see them. So when a blue does not go as you think it should, don't think the judges are "crooked," but rather believe that they have seen something that you have not been able to observe. This rule applies to all show horses—hunters, jumpers, ponies, park hacks, roadsters and harness horses.
